

Environment Trust ART PICNIC

Sunday 20th February 2011: 11am - 4pm

The house of J M W Turner

Sandycombe Lodge, 40 Sandycombe Rd, Twickenham, TW1 2LR.

A fascinating new venue, not open to the public, made available to us by the Sandycombe Lodge Trust. The painter JMW Turner designed and lived in this house from 1812 to 1826. Much of the original internal architectural detail remains, with an arched and mirrored entrance hall thought to have been inspired by Turner's friend the architect Sir John Soane. Empty, unmodernised and a little shabby, the interior offers challenging opportunities for capturing the evocative atmosphere before restoration takes place; or you could paint the view through the windows. And you can certainly imagine Turner cleaning his brushes in the basement kitchen.

Materials for sketching (paper, pencils, and charcoal) and drawing boards will be provided, but you are welcome to bring your own equipment if you prefer. Don't forget to bring a picnic lunch too.
